Energy choices continue to shape our region's overall economy and environment, and they present specific, high-profile opportunities and challenges for local communities. Please join us for a robust forum on the land use and development implications of energy paths being advanced and debated in Greater Philadelphia. How can we modernize or repurpose industrial and transportation infrastructure to exploit new sources of fossil fuels while still improving our performance on measures of sustainability? Can state and local policies help different energy paths co-exist or converge? Come find out what today's energy decisions might mean for you and what should we know about Houston's experience?

KEYNOTE SPEAKER AND MODERATOR: Mark Alan Hughes, Ph.D., Professor of Practice, PennDesign Director, Kleinman Center for Energy Policy, University of Pennsylvania.

PANELISTS:

John R. Hanger, Secretary of Policy, Office of the Governor and Director of Planning and Policies, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; former Public Utilities Commissioner; and Governor's appointee to the Pennsylvania Pipeline Infrastructure Taskforce.

Joseph F. McGinn, Senior Manager of Public Affairs, Sunoco Logistics Partners; and Governor's appointee to the Pennsylvania Pipeline Infrastructure Taskforce, on industries and investors building upon the area's energy infrastructure.

Bob Riga, General Manager at Spectra Energy, one of North America's leading pipeline and midstream companies and owner of the natural gas, natural gas liquids, and crude oil assets in Spectra Energy's U.S. portfolio.

Jeff Taebel, FAICP, Director of Community and Environmental Planning, Houston-Galveston Area Council, where he oversees the community enhancement, environmental planning, disaster recovery, economic development, socioeconomic modeling, and sustainable development initiatives.
