APAPASE is looking for Graduate School program papers (individual and group) about topics and issues relevant to the Delaware Valley Region. Eligible papers can address contemporary planning-related topics, such as sustainability, Smart Growth, and energy planning, and include methods for achieving implementation. Papers must be generated through graduate level studios and/or class/course assignments.

Papers will be evaluated by these criteria:

- subject quality and originality
- paper structure
- technical writing
- thoroughness of research
- analysis and conclusions
